Dear Parent/Carer

This is advanced notice of the next planned Operation Wallacea trip that it is going to take place in June 2019. We still need to confirm the location and we are looking into either going to Mexico, or returning to South Africa for a third expedition. The price will be approximately £2500 and we will have a payment plan in place, as well as fundraising, to help to reach that target. The trip will be for two and a half weeks and pupils will be involved in helping scientists carry out research into conservation projects during that time. The first week is based in either a tropical rainforest or savannah ecosystem, and the second week is Marine based, where you will also complete your PADI diving qualification.

The trip is open to all pupils who are planning on studying any of the following subjects in the senior phase: Geography, Maths or a Science subject, and are currently in S3 or S4. The price and location will be confirmed when the trip is officially launched in September.

Here is a link if you would like more information about the locations and the work that we will be carrying out. If you are interested, please contact Mr Rodger or Mr Smith.
